I have been a follower and stockholder of Microsoft for no less than 12 years. I beginning to lose faith in the American Enterprise System and feel that our basic American lifestyle is being undermined by greedy lawyers and politicians who really no nothing about the struggles of technology enterprise and who want to turn everything good into a legal battle for money and power. How did lawyers suddenly become the directors of our lives. What s happening in this arena is destroying the financial resources I use to support my family. We are in dire financial trouble because of this terrible fiasco. There is something terribly wrong in America today. - USAF Viet Nam Era Veteran Veteran
